

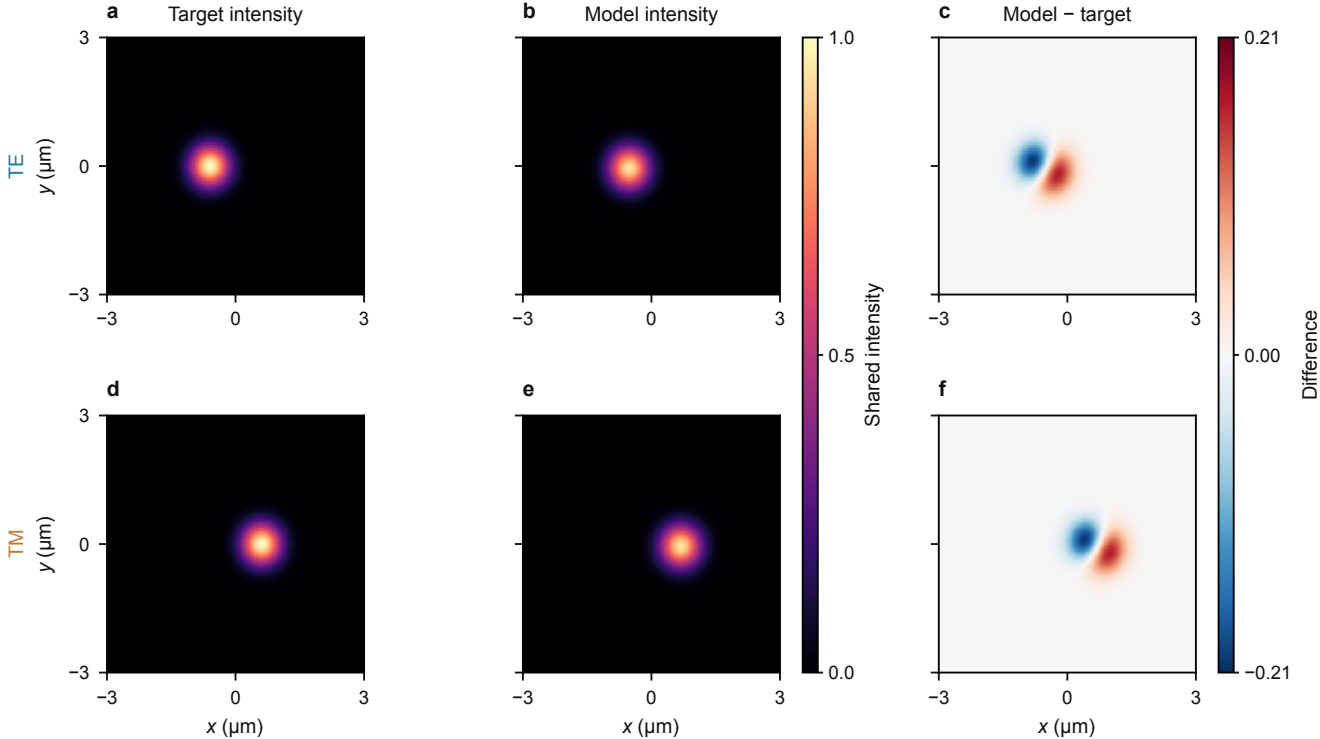

Fig. 4. Comparison of synthetic target and model intensity distributions. Rows correspond to TE and TM; columns show the target, model and signed difference (model minus target). All intensity maps share one reference and range; they are not normalized separately. Both difference maps use the same symmetric scale.